RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Carrot Biscuits

Here's some of the boys' favorites.

- 1 cup Whole Wheat Flour
- ½ cup Grated Cheese
- ½ cup Cooked peas or carrots
- ¼ lb of olive oil
- 1 small clove of garlic in 1T milk

Mix room temperature cheese, oil, peas, carrots, garlic and flour. Add enough milk to help form them into a ball. Chill for 1 hour. Roll onto flavored surface and cut into shapes. Preheat oven to 375 degrees °F. Bake for 15 minutes or until slightly brown. Makes 25 biscuits.

ABOUT BTRET

The Boston Terrier Rescue of East Tennessee is an established 501 ©(3) non-profit organization dedicated to rescuing, rehabilitating, and rehoming Boston Terriers. We rely solely on the kindness of our donors and the income of fundraisers, partnerships and grants to sustain our establishment. For more than a decade, we have pulled Boston Terriers from deadly and desperate situations. We do not euthanize those in our care, even for reasons of health or behavioral issues. We feel it's our obligation to give these dogs the care they need -- temporarily until they find a home, or for life with us.

Many of the dogs come to us broken -- sometimes emotionally and other times physically from abuse or neglect. Our network of volunteers and foster homes has provided assistance to thousands of Boston Terriers, Boston Terrier mixes, and other dogs in need. Our foster-based outreach means that rescued dogs get the one-on-one home life they desperately need while awaiting their forever families.

We feel that the lives of all dogs, and in our circumstance the lives of the "American Gentleman," should be respected, preserved, and cherished.

All donations made to Boston Terrier Rescue of East Tennessee are tax-deductible and greatly appreciated.

LOST DOG? GET THEM BACK HOME WITH THESE TIPS

1. Call and visit all local shelters and animal control facilities daily.
2. If you think your pup isn't too far away, leave a familiar scent, like a blanket, with a food dish (only during the daytime to avoid wildlife) on your front or back porch.
3. Ask your friends and family to help scan the area on foot and by car.
4. Sometimes a scared pup will be attracted to another dog. Bring a pooch along on your search.
5. Make fliers. If it's calling for bad weather, put your fliers in upside down paper protectors and tape the bottom closed.
6. Include the following on your flier: A large, clear photo, phone number, date last seen, place last seen, and that the pet needs medication or medical attention (to deter someone from wanting to keep a friendly dog).
7. Put a flier in your mailbox so your mail person can keep an eye out during the day.
8. Call local veterinarian offices. Ask them if you can post fliers. Also call your veterinarian.
9. Call local pet supply stores. Ask them if you can post fliers.
10. Don't give up! Animals have been found months, even years after they've gone missing.
11. Enlist a reputable organization that can help you track your dog

BTRET LOST DOG POLICIES

Most people don't know how over loaded animal shelters are and that most routinely kill for space. Dogs are held the mandatory time waiting for an owner to show up, if no owner comes, then the dog is adopted, rescued or euthanized.

If we find a dog, recover a dog from an animal shelter or are given a found dog by a responsible third party or Good Samaritan who has rescued or found the dog, we will use reasonable efforts to locate the dog's family within a reasonable period of time and after that time the dog will be considered available for adoption when they are in good health. We will determine that 'reasonable period of time' but by statute, that may be as little as three days. We do not have the facilities to keep dogs indefinitely, waiting for the family to finally show up.

We will NOT post in the newspaper's Lost and Found section, nor will we place posters on telephone poles or other conspicuous places. That is the family's responsibility. Other prudent and effective advice on how to carry out activities related to recovery of a lost pet is posted here on this page for that specific purpose and the family's convenience and use.

If the dog is properly identified by a previous owner, that person will be responsible for a per diem fee of $10/day boarding and any veterinary costs that were required for the dog in the sole opinion of BTRET and its veterinarians. Any additional costs required or incurred to protect BTRET dogs from any illness carried by the found dog are also the responsibility of the person claiming to be family. All monies will be paid in full prior to the dog's release.

Proper identification will consist of any documentation, photographs, vet records, AKC records, or other collaborating evidence. The responsibility of proving the dog to be your lost dog is your sole responsibility. BTRET will make a decision based on aforementioned documentation, our veterinarian's advice and the dog's reaction to you.
